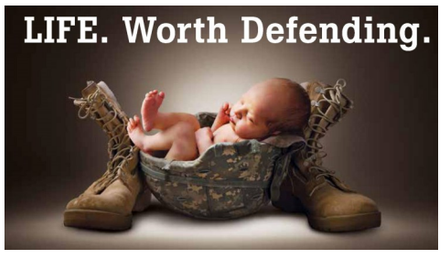
CCWS IS MOVING TO THE FRONT LINES!



The new year brings BIG NEWS for Chester County Women's Services (CCWS). In our fight to save more lives God is calling us to move our West Chester Center to the front lines! The new office, located at 139 W. Market Street is planned to open on February 1, 2018.

By positioning CCWS in the heart of West Chester, our footprint will be more visible in the community, but more importantly, we will be situated closer to the local abortion facility. This will provide a greater opportunity to intercede clients and help them learn of the hope and options that are available as an alternative to abortion. Our new location also places us in the heart of other local agencies and next to the new courthouse.

God is calling us to be more intentional in our efforts, and in doing so, we are calling all prayer warriors from churches, families, organizations, and individuals to hold us in prayer during this exciting time.

Services will continue at our current 27 S. Church St. Center through the end of January. Then, beginning on February 1, 2018 all services in West Chester will be provided in our newly rented Market St. Center.

Just this past year, CCWS served 2,023 women and families with medical appointments. These services include pregnancy tests, limited-ultrasounds, prenatal vitamins and proof of pregnancy. 1,162 families were assisted in the form of educational visits, including abortion facts and alternatives, sexual integrity information, adoption guidance, and parenting and discipline support. CCWS also assists with community referrals and client-earned material assistance.

NEW MEDICAL DIRECTOR/RADIOLOGIST ANNOUNCED

CCWS is pleased to announce that beginning January 2, 2018, William Brown, D.O. began serving as the new CCWS Medical Director, and Jeffrey Hung, M.D., as Radiologist.

Dr. Brown was one of the founders of Chester County Women's Services, dating back to 1982 when the ministry was still a dream. After officially opening our doors in 1985, Dr. Brown has continued to support CCWS.

Dr. Brown is board certified by the American Board of Family Medicine. He completed his undergraduate training at Penn State University. A graduate of Philadelphia College of Osteopathic Medicine, Dr. Brown has been in practice since 1980.

Dr. Jeffrey Hung is a radiologist in Sellersville, Pennsylvania and is affiliated with multiple hospitals in the area, including Brandywine Hospital and Pottstown Memorial Medical Center. He received his medical degree from West Virginia University School of Medicine and has been in practice for more than 20 years. He is one of 4 doctors at Brandywine Hospital and one of 24 at Pottstown Memorial Medical Center who specialize in Radiology.

We would like to express our immense gratitude to our former Medical Director, Melissa Delaney, D.O., for her many years of dedication, commitment and service to the women and families of Chester County. We will continue to partner with Dr. Delaney and refer clients to one another.

Hope Found Here

We regularly meet with a client named Jennifer, who originally came to CCWS for emotional support after having an abortion and then a miscarriage . A few months ago she learned she is pregnant again. Since then, her boyfriend left her. He also left her with all the unpaid bills. Jennifer works full-time but is overwhelmed with her financial obligations and she is falling behind in her payments. She has great remorse for the two babies that she lost, but felt as if she has no choice but to abort this baby also. She didn't think she could handle the responsibility of raising a baby by herself. She felt hopeless.

After seeking help at CCWS, including seeing the baby's heartbeat through our ultrasound machine, Jennifer decided that she wanted to keep the baby!

We were able to provide rental assistance, one-on-one peer counseling and spiritual renewal for Jennifer. She completed all counseling and budgeting classes and successfully completed each task assigned to help her learn how to support her and her new baby alone. This resulted in her finding and signing a lease for a more affordable living arrangement, lowering her outstanding bills and creating a monthly budget in which she can make ends meet. Jennifer is also reconnecting with the Lord and growing in her spiritual walk. She now feels confident in her ability to parent her baby, as she is living within her means as she prepares to welcome her new baby into the world this Spring!

"You gave me hope when I didn't think there was any. I am forever grateful to your staff. Each person there really cares.
